Efficient Administration Key to Smooth Operation of School and Its 1200 Students

One might well wonder how approximately twelve hundred students and sixty faculty members can travel in and out of seven buildings all day long, five days a week, and still maintain the degree of organization necessary for effective fulfillment of their educational purpose. Efficient administration is the only answer to this problem.

Superintendent of schools, Mr. Wendell T. Phipps, above, is assisted in his administrative duties by the school board, left, which is under the chairmanship of Dr. Harry Worley.

Also essential to effective organization is Principal William E. Gurney, above, whose quiet cheerfulness, interest and ability to coordinate the more detailed operation of his administrative divisions requires great skill.

In his second year as Vice Principal Mr. Patrick Hayden, top, far left, provides counseling as well as administrative services.

Mrs. Alma Murray, top right, is of special aid to college-bound seniors, while Mr. Leo G. Hake, middle right, counsels all juniors and sophomore boys. Mrs. Connie M. Otjen, bottom right, is new on the counseling staff, working primarily with freshman and sophomore girls.

RODA INMAN - WSU B.A., home economics.

LEILA STECKELBERG- U of W B.S., home economics, dept. head, FHA.

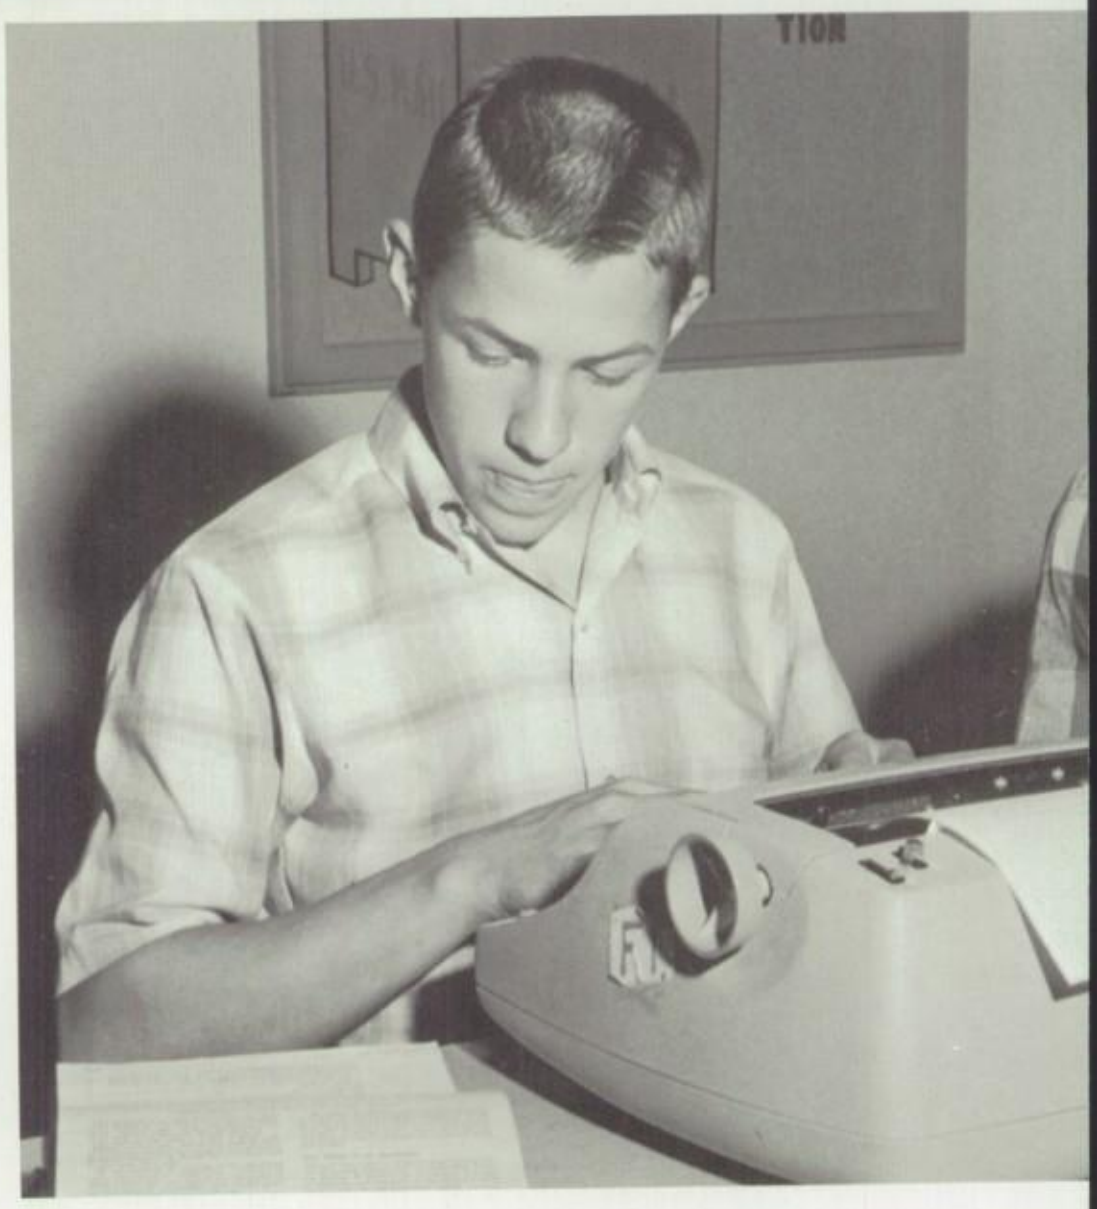
MARJORIE THOMAS - WWSC B.A., shorthand, transcription, adv. typing, Girls' Club.

Preparing for Future Life Is Aim of Home Economics and Agriculture Classes

The Smith-Hughes Act of 1917 is the basis for a four year training program in which many of the boys at Mount Vernon High School are active. These boys learn modern methods in farming and numerous related areas. Home projects and home visitations are current, and many of the boys own and exhibit their own animals. The department is inseparably linked with the Future Farmers of America club, also a part of the Smith-Hughes Act which provides funds for the training of young people through age twenty-one in the general field of livestock.

Mrs. Leila Steckelberg, head of the home-economics department, says, "Homemaking is the many things that make a healthy, happy, well-adjusted group of people." Cooking, sewing, and home furnishings classes help students achieve a reasonable understanding of basic principals in all areas of homemaking, including time budgeting, financial management, social needs, and care of the ill.



Combined Work, Play Make Good Citizens

"One, two, one, two . . ." Familiar sounds echo from the gymnasium as physical education students warm up with calisthenics. Soccer, field hockey, archery, volleyball, basketball, and swimming are among the activities which help students to develop recreational skills useful throughout life. New studies include an individual exercise analysis for freshman girls, and an advanced class for both boys and girls. Classroom instruction in driving is a regular part of the sophomore curriculum. An outlet for tension, physical education classes also stimulate growth of intellectual, social, and emotional, as well as physical capacities.

Business education teachers have an opportunity to emphasize the elements of character and personality practical to all businesses. The latest in IBM machinery aids preparation in either the general clerical and accounting course or the secretarial-stenographic study. Among the new equipment is an IBM transcriber and dictator, equipped with tape-recordings and adjustable headsets to provide practice in dictation. Twenty new typewriters and five new IBM selectrics also prepare business students for work in modern offices.

A RELUCTANT MOTOR causes problems in Mr. Hoagland's power mechanics class, right.

Snow? In May? Such freak weather reports are common in Mr. Malcolm Thomson's chemistry classes, where the term "snowflake" means a pop quiz in the near future. Both chemistry and biology students utilize the laboratory to investigate processes of science and the history of scientific ideas. Biology classes deal specifically with the unity as well as the diversity of all living things. In physics students are briefed in mechanics, heat, sound, light, and electricity. Astronomy, meteorology, and geology make up the course in earth science, in which Mr. Richard Dixon strives to give his students an understanding and background basic to their environment.

The revolutionary "new math" has now become a regular and successful part of our curriculum. Courses range from elementary algebra and geometry to advanced algebra and trigonometry. Ambitious students can take up to five years of math.

Industrial arts classes are offered to prepare students for jobs in vocational and industrial fields. Mr. Bill DeHon teaches his electronics students to work with and repair electrical equipment. Metal working and power mechanics are being taught for the first time in the new metal shop. Mr. Bruce Parker incorporates the use of good design into his wood shop classes, where students must also make use of the skills obtained in a previous semester of mechanical drawing.

VIETNAM is among the many issues to appear in the daily newspaper. At right, Mr. Murphy's students scan for such items of interest to discuss during class.

Information about the past is linked with current events in such cultural classes as social studies, foreign language, music, and art. Mr. Joe Murphy's senior current problems classes enter their discussions around recent news events, using their historical background as a basis for understanding world situations. Freshman geography classes are presently participating in a program involving only nine other schools in the nation. The program, High School Geography Project, is sponsored by the National Science Foundation. Its purpose is to evaluate and revise given units of study in the field of geography, and to prepare a practical course from them for use in secondary schools.

French, German, and Spanish classes now concentrate on speaking and pronunciation rather than just reading and writing the language. Tapes of native speakers and a language laboratory provide for the necessary individual practice.

The music department plays both classical and modern music. Advanced students are encouraged through solo opportunities and ensemble groups to increase their musical understanding, appreciation, and skill.

Awareness is the key word in Mr. Gordon Fisher's art classes. Drawing and painting provide ample opportunity for students to express themselves. Mr. Fisher also helps students in gaining some appreciation of our artistic heritage.

OUTSIDE READING is strongly emphasized by all English teachers. Bill Paul and Alan Johnson, right, represent a typical library scene.

English Teachers Strive To Provide Varied Ideas

English teachers strive to help students become literate readers, competent writers, and self-assured speakers. "Each year, we hold classes to improve our own skills and maintain communication about current trends in English," explains Miss Geraldine Hofer, English department head.

Various classes are offered to suit the needs and interests of all students. Mr. Archie Vivian teaches a course in business English dealing with written and oral communication in the business world.

Creative writing, taught by Mr. Jim Johnson, is designed to supplement the natural talent of creative students by providing useful forms and channels for energy, along with helpful evaluation and criticism.

Miss Hofer's advanced placement English class is offered to top students who are capable of doing college-level work. By scoring high on a test given in the spring, these students can obtain college credit for the study they have done.

The highlight of the year was a trip to the Seattle Repertory Theater in December to see "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller. This trip gave many students their first opportunity to see professional drama preformed on the stage.

Hamburgers, Keys, Files, Busses Keep Schoo

It takes many capable people working behind the scenes to keep each school day running smoothly.

Mrs. Ruth Holmes, Mrs. Brenda Frazier, and Mrs. Phyllis Ray keep things functioning efficiently in the main office, where they answer questions and solve problems for many students every day. In the attendance office Mrs. Grace Cunningham has the job of keeping track of our 1200 students six periods a day.

Imagine the job of feeding more than 250 hungry teenagers every day. That is the task of our school cooks, Mrs. June Haley and Mrs. Alleen Poppe.

Our custodians, Mr. Sanford Swartos, Mr. Elmer Fleck, Mr. Rutz Anderson, and Mr. Roy Strong, are responsible for keeping our campus spotlessly clean.

Combating tight schedules, late students, and the weather are Skagit Valley College boys who transport hundreds of students to and from school daily.

Located near the bus barn is the office of Mr. John Tonkin, cafeteria and maintenance supervisor.

Mrs. Phyllis Pearson, school nurse, is not only concerned with the health of MVHS students, but is also advisor to the Future Nurses Association.

Mr. Phipps' office is staffed by four capable secretaries, Miss Elin Anderson, Mrs. Gloria Van-Valkenburg, Mrs. Myrtle Elde, and Mrs. Olive Page.

ANSWERING PHONE calls, typing, and filing are only a few of the many jobs that keep Mrs. Grace Cunningham, Mrs. Brenda Frazier, Mrs. Ruth Holmes, and Mrs. Phyllis Ray, right, busy every day.

Functioning

HUNGRY STUDENTS never seem to get filled up, observe our cooks, Mrs. Alleen Poppe and Mrs. June Haley, left, who serve not only plate lunches but hamburgers, pastries, ice cream, and milk.

We are a conglomeration of people, moving together through our years in school, far right; with mixed thoughts and emotions reflected in many faces, right and below.

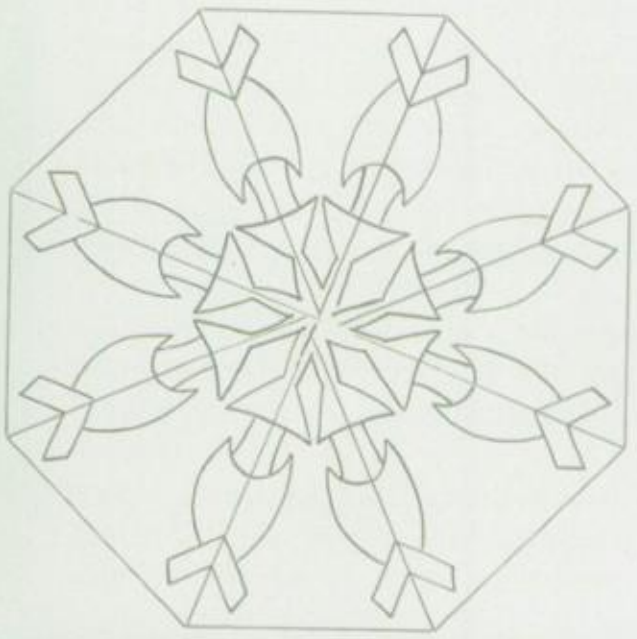
Our Student Body



330 Anxious Freshmen Overcome Confusio

Three hundred and thirty anxious freshmen exchanged their anxiety for familiarity, as the class of 1970 became oriented to a new campus, located classes, and developed acquaintances with classmates and teachers. The confusion of that hectic first week of high school soon disappeared and the class settled down to a productive year.

One of the first class responsibilities was to elect President Morris Johnson, Vice President Mike Krieger, Secretary Sue Schneider, and Treasurer Susan Fisher as their class officers. These students represented their class in spirit and ambition.

Frosh adaptability to MVHS was aided by the many activities offered by the school. Participation in Girls Club, Red Cross, Horizon Club, FHA, FNA, and the ski club provided the means to develop group cooperation.

Another means of frosh recognition was provided by sports, when the Bullpups won the Northwest League freshman football title after an undefeated season.

All in all, the freshmen left behind them a year typified by confusion and restlessness, to be promoted, and acquire the larger responsibilities of a new class status.

Ambition, initiative, talkativeness-these are words characterizing the sophomore class of the 1966-67 school year. Utilizing the new voting machines, the class elected President Jack Thomas, Vice President Bruce Hayton, Secretary Krissa Haberly, and Treasurer Kay Buzzard to represent them in an event filled year. The busy schedule consisted of participation in Hi-Y, Tri-Hi-Y, pep council, inter-club council, and the all-school play. These activities kept the class of 1969 busy while they contributed to the growth of Mount Vernon High School.

Relieved of their freshman status, the sophomores proved their cooperation and willingness to work by building and entering the third place float in the homecoming parade.

Many boys earned letter sweaters this year by turning out for various sports. Several made varsity teams, two of whom were in the starting line-up for football. Various girls also earned their sweaters by actively participating in GAA.

With the end of a successful year, the class was eagerly looking forward to summer vacation and their next two years as upperclassmen, when they will play a definite role in the leadership of the school.

Three down—one to go. The class of '68 as juniors saw to it this year was one of their best. Put together 279 of the finest students and how could the year be anything less!

Under the able leadership of President Jeff Rindal, Vice President Kent Haberly, Treasurer Judy Bremer, and Secretary Becki Heffley, the class progressed through their first year as upper classmen.

Their enthusiasm showed up in both participation and support for school activities. Homecoming, being one of the highlight activities of the year, saw the junior class coming up with the first prize float.

Almost every junior belongs to at least one of the many clubs and activities affiliated with the school. Some of the favorite clubs are Tri-Hi-Y, with two groups—Lawson and Reep, Adams Hi-Y, and Chesk-Cha-May Horizon.

The annual, joint-town Junior Prom came off as another junior class success. Sedro-Woolley, Burlington, LaConner, and Mount Vernon pooled their efforts to make this one of the best proms ever.

Even with all of these extra-curricular activities, fifty-four juniors achieved the needed 3.2 G.P.A. for Honor Society, giving the class the largest membership in the organization.

Junior classmen no longer, the eyes of the class of '68 look forward to the three big "S's"—Summer, Sun, and Senior Year.

After weeks of planning decorations, hanging crepe paper, and converting tin cans into miniature castles, the Holiday Ballroom was made ready for the annual Senior Ball. "Knights and Roses" was the theme of this year's ball. Chosen to reign as the Mount Vernon royalty were Queen Ingrid McClinton and King Ray Olmsted, pictured at right.

One of the major and more entertaining efforts of the class of '67 was the Christmas Assembly, presented to the students and faculty in the auditorium. Featured on the program were readers, who narrated the story of Christmas, a choir, a guest speaker, and a comedy entitled "Pop Reads a Christmas Carol." The play was directed by Gil Rodriguez, and the choral selections were arranged and directed by Doug Huddle. This all-out effort of the class was declared by many to be a great success.

"SHUT UP choir . . . choir, shut up." And the choir did shut up long enough to win both student and faculty acclaim as one of the best senior assemblies ever put on at MVHS. Gil Rodriguez and Doug Wiegand rest while Doug Huddle supervises the choir, right. Above, Al Turnbull works to finish the set in time for the first performance.

Thinking of others, the senior council classes organized the entire student body in preparing Christmas baskets for the needy. An all time record of $237.19 was raised, and enough food, clothing, and toys for five families was collected. Groups of students carolled outside the doors of each house as the food was delivered.

With the new year came the anticipation of the moving-up assembly, commencement, the cruise, and the end of high school.

Girls' Club Style Show is Great Success

The Girls' Club's activities this year reflected the initiative and progressive attitude of every girl who belonged to it. Full response, participation, and a variety of new ideas helped to make 1966-1967 one of the most successful and event-packed sessions of the group possible. Among the important events on the Girls' Club agenda was a 17-model fashion show whose theme was "Fashions from the Avenue." With the catchy scenery, swinging music, and scores of outfits, the show meant a profitable $125 success and a lot of fun.

An original change took place at the traditional BoGiHaPa which cast a different spell with the selection of a Witch and Warlock, plus pictures for all couples.

Donations for the Thanksgiving basket topped previous years as enough food was collected to feed six families. Also in the line of charity was the drive for Vietnam hospital supplies.

The "Cherish" Sweetheart Dance was accented with purple and pink decorations. It was followed up by the March of Dimes Game and the annual Mothers' Tea.

All in all, the ingredients of imagination, ambition, and talent combined to make this a most memorable year for every girl.

Exchange Student Bring Foreign Flavor to MVHS

For senior Jana Hoag, the 1966 summer vacation meant a trip to the Netherlands, where she spent two months with a family in a suburb of Rotterdam. This exciting experience, sponsored by the American Field Service, brought her many new ideas. Shopping trips, camping in southern Holland, bicycle-riding, and various other activities helped Jana to understand that despite language, custom, or any other kinds of barriers, people are the same the world over. They must be accepted as themselves.

Hanne Jensen of Denmark, a student at MVHS, for the second semester, is also learning about people the world over. She chose to change her visitor's papers to a student visa in hopes that she might come to better understand the United States and its people.

"Thank you so much to everyone of you for what I have learned from you and for the fun I have had. Being an exchange-student at MVHS I have been able to understand the life and school spirit of the people of the United States and the Mount Vernon community especially.

"Thank you for this wonderful ten-and-a-half months as a senior, for being one of you, for letting me take part in your activities. MVHS is a great school and what makes it great is the student body, and I feel the proudest '66-'67 AFS'er for being here.

"I will never forget the class of '67, and the most important thing is that this year will live forever in me."

Fire, powder, and noise shake the sanctity of a Russian country estate in one of the four fall plays, "The Boor", by Anton Chekhov. Helena Ivanovna Popov, a young widow and mistress of the estate, is played by Louise Davis. Mourning her dead husband with a vengeance for his infidelity, she proves an arsenal of pride to her bill-collecting proprietor, Grigori Stepanovitch Smirnoff, portrayed by Gilbert Rodriguez. As matched in intensity as the pistols they brandish at each other, these two are soon carried from an argument of money to a battle of emotions culminating in a marriage proposal. A triumphal kiss horrifies the already pathetically disturbed butler, Luka, played with a wonderful touch of comedy by Don Hanson.

Tragedy is a part of student acting experience, too. "Riders to the Sea," by J. M. Synge, takes us to an island off the west of Ireland. It is the story of an old woman, the sea, and its triumph over the lives of all her sons, her father-in-law, and her husband. At the time of the story, the last son Bart is about to set off on a sea voyage. With the stubborn confidence of youth, he resists the hard warnings and pleadings of Maurya, the old woman. Drowned in a freak accident, he is the last of her cares tumbled. Maurya is played by Judy Bremer, and Bartley, by Duff McDaniel. Two daughters, Cathleen and Nora, are played by Heather Grant and Betty Andrew.

SPINNING WOOL for the family are Cathleen, (Heather Grant), and her sister Nora, (Betty Andrew), in "Riders to the Sea," above. Maurya, (Judy Bremer), sadly watches her son Bartley, (Duff McDaniel), prepare for sea.

All's well that ends well, said a man once; and though "Red Carnations," by Glenn Hughes, is not the first short comedy to prove the point, it is probably the most confusing. This turnabout trauma takes place in a secluded corner of a city park. Here a young man, played by Mel Brooks, has a strange date with a girl he met at a masked ball. Having no other clues to her identity than her eyes, he is thoroughly frustrated to find another man on the park bench waiting for the same girl! However, when the joke is revealed, and the man turns out to be her father, the three of them go off to dinner together. Jenny Huffstetter plays the mysterious young lady; Deryl Walls, her father.

"We cannot allow this Bohemian element to worm its way into our little community." This is the community attitude toward the new summer people in John Davis' "A Package for Ponsonby." Eddie Simms, a struggling young flutist played by Randy McLeod, practices while his wife Jenny, played by Sallee Schroeder, rows him around Loon Lake, and the neighbors watch suspiciously. But fig newton-crunching Granny Lewis comes to the rescue, pulling a few painful strings around the community. The storekeeper was played by Linda Bannerman; the mayor, by Gene Ervine; the barber, by Vernon Arendse; Mrs. Gorham, "the aristocrat of the community," by Nancy Moen; and the incredible Granny, by Daphne George.

Choir Has New Director, Maintains Its Traditional Group Excellence

From Rennaisance selections to modern music, the material covered by the A Cappella choir makes up a wide variety of learning experiences. Mostly upperclassmen, the members of the choir are accepted by an audition only, and are expected to have a basic knowledge of music reading. This year Mr. Dennis Ness has taken over direction of the choirs. Mr. Ness has hopes for an even higher level of requirement at entrance in the future years. Activities of the choir include singing for concerts, clubs, and other public groups. This year's Spring Concert was done in conjunction with the orchestra; the combined musical group presented "The Gloria," by Antonio Vivaldi.

Madrigals, a select group of sixteen singers, are chosen from the many members of the A Cappella Choir. These singers also audition, are expected to exhibit superior singing ability. Madrigals concentrate on extending their musical learning as well as having fun. They perform for local groups and clubs, and enjoy making public appearances. The group has been renewed this year due to a revival of interest in this phase of musical entertainment. 1964 marked the last year of Madrigal activities until the present time. Members of the Madrigals took part in an evaluation contest in which they received excellent ratings — an attestment to their quality as a fine singing group.

Vocal training at Mount Vernon High School begins with the Freshman Choir, which was currently composed of about seventy students. This class is the most basic in extending musical knowledge and appreciation. The Campus Choir, composed of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, selected music that had been specially arranged for girls' choirs. With a somewhat smaller enrollment of thirty girls, the Campus Choir joined the Freshman Choir in the traditional Christmas and spring concerts. The two groups were directed by Mr. Dennis Ness, who coordinated all parts of the vocal program.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Charles Easton, played a variety of music, from Bach to modern folk tunes. Individual ability was recognized by the large number of students playing solo parts at various times throughout the year. The orchestra was kept busy rehearsing for the many musical events that occured during the school year. Besides a series of five school concerts, the group performed for various community organizations, and took part in music festivals with other schools.

Two violinists from the orchestra and two MVHS band members had the opportunity of attending the seven-state, All-Northwest Orchestra and Band in Missoula, Montana. These young musicians were chosen on the basis of tapes they submitted, demonstrating their ability on their instruments.

"Mount Vernon High forever; sing Bulldogs, sing . . . " The excitement in this song is generated by the MVHS band which adds a vibrant beat to pep at our games and pep assemblies. While the large concert band is present at every football game, the smaller stage band rallies the basketball team on to victory. This band is composed of saxophones, coronets, trombones, and a string base.

Beside the regular concert band, a class in symphonic band is offered to provide a more challenging selection of music for students who pass the required auditions. Also enriching the program are a brass choir and a clarinet quartet.

Beginning this year, and laying the groundwork for the following year's organization, the Pep Club was presided over by Co-Presidents Betty Lockhart and Cheri Fulker. Other officers included Vice President Becki Heffley, Secretary Vicki Goodman, and Treasurer Karlynn Haberly. Qualifications limited membership eligibility to upperclassmen only, and to maintain membership, girls had to attend a required percentage of games. Unity as an organization came from dress and activities of the group. All 125 members wore outfits of green skirts and white sweaters for football season, exchanging the sweater for a green vest and white blouse during basketball. The total outfit cost was partly defrayed by summer money raising projects. Club activities centered around pep skits, bake sales, and the decoration of the boys' locker room with pep signs throughout the sports season.

Also concerned with the many promotional aspects of pep and the thinking up of new and original gimmicks, the 12-member Pep Council organized everything from a mock funeral to a Clash day. Another job of the Council was to create slogans that served the dual purpose of antagonizing MVHS opposition and giving pep a novel expression. Taking the Council's pep themes and making them into signs was the task of the Poster Playmates. The Playmates managed to leave little wall space uncovered, decorated the players' bus every week, and came to school early many mornings in order to hang their work.

Bullpups Undefeated

This year's freshman team, coached by Jim Beasley and Al Evans, completed their 1966 season with a 6 win-0 loss record to take first place in the Northwest League among freshman teams. To add insult to injury, the frosh allowed their opponents to score only 34 points during the entire season. The highlight of the season was a surprising 33-7 victory over Sehome High School of Bellingham. The Bullpups went into that game with high hopes, but the surprising part was the margin by which they won. Sehome had defeated one of the top frosh teams in the state just a week before.

DEEP KNEE BENDS and leg raises, left, as directed by Coach Hake, are an invaluable part of calisthenics turn-out.

A football team is on display to the public only ten times a year, and to some people it may seem that the football players receive a lot of glory for only a little effort. Some players, however, receive very little prestige, but the personal satisfaction they gain from a season's play far outweighs any effort put into it.

Ask any football player what he remembers most about the last season. He will probably say something about how much fun it was or how sorry he felt about not doing better for MVHS. What he won't remember will only consist of minor things, like eight one-hundred yard sprints, bearwalks, hamburger drills, the double turnouts, or if he's a third stringer, scrimmaging the varsity, or worst of all, getting the coaches mad. But from all this he will remember most the satisfaction gained from being one of the few who made up the Bulldogs of 1966.

'66 Bulldogs Build for Coming of Next Season

With only three starters returning from last year's team, the MVHS squad took to the task of putting together a football team out of relatively inexperienced men. While the season was not too successful as far as win-loss records go, the Bulldogs posted a 2 win-7 loss-1 tie record to take seventh place in the final league standings. There were times, such as the scoreless tie with a strong Anacortes team, when the drive and determination of the Bulldogs showed that they could do the job. Indicative of the calibre of the team is the fact that two of this year's team were named to the All-Northwest squad. Art Bergh, a senior tackle, was named to the offensive squad at that post and Steve Olson, a junior, was named to the defensive squad as a halfback. Both the blocking and the inspirational awards were voted to Art Bergh by the team. Bergh and Mike Dundin were named as this year's co-captains while Steve Olson and Chuck LaMay were named co-captains for next year. Voted by the team as outstanding sophomores of the year were Gerry Pruyn and Steve Pullin.

Serpentine and Hottest Bonfire in History Were Highlights of Homecoming

"Chew 'em to bits in sixty-six." That was the theme of the 1966 Homecoming held during the week of October 24-28. John W. Olson supervised the week's activities, which ended with a Friday night game against the Arlington Eagles.

Early Monday morning students filled the gymnasium for the annual coronation assembly, where the court was announced to the anxious audience. The elegance of this assembly set the mood for the rest of the week, and students left the gym eager to begin the traditional activities.

On Tuesday members of classes and clubs wore assorted costumes and accessories with accompanying slogans to promote pep. A car smash, sponsored by Martin Hi-Y, predicted the fate of the Eagles.

Letter Sweaters were plentiful on Wednesday as students displayed their pride in MVHS.

Sadness filled the halls on Thursday as teachers and students alike wore black to mourn the defeat of the Arlington team. But in the evening, excitement rose again as the cheerleaders led the serpentine through the downtown streets. This event ended with the largest, hottest bonfire in the history of the school, right. With only one day left in the exciting week, students went home thoroughly confident of victory on Friday night.

SCREAMING for dear life, MVHS students wound their way through the main street of town in the serpentine on Thursday night. Students paused momentarily to catch their breath, far left, while the cheerleaders, left, led the serpentine along its snake-like course.

"DROWN 'EM" was the stunt slogan of Pep Club girls, who dressed in rain gear for stunt day. Large paper flowers were worn by the sophomores to carry out the "My Fair Lady" theme of the coronation assembly. Pictured above, left to right, are Marcia Tawes, Krissa Haberly, Joyce Johanson, Rebecca Mitchelle, Marcia Johnson, Betty Lockhart, Janice Jungquist, and Doug Wiegand.

Half-time ceremonies were high-lighted by the presentation of the royalty, a review of the Car and Float Parade, and marching by the band.

Homecoming graduates of 1956 renewed old acquaintances in the library following the game. The formal tea was organized by Chuck Carroll. The Counts, now known as the Rubber Bands, made music for the dance at the YMCA. "My Fair Lady," this year's theme, was carried out in burgandy and pink.

Green-and-White Day is Climax of Homecoming

Green-and-white day, a traditional climax to the week's activities, caught up school spirit in a whirlwind of activities. A pep assembly and a pep skit centered the students' attention on the long-awaited game ahead of them. The team was lined up on the floor. Members of the pep club presented them with the victory cake, while cheerleaders gave them an official victory "V". The student body cheered enthusiastically from the bleachers.

Darrel Suta organized this year's Car and Float Parade, an annual contest exhibiting efforts on the part of clubs, individuals, or any other student group. First place in the float division and the $20 prize went to the junior class for their "Eagle-in-a Cage." The senior class received second place, while the sophomores constructed the third place float. In the car division, Hi-Horizon received first place, with Blade Hi-Y and Martin Hi-Y taking the second and third place prizes.

Bulldog Swim Team Captures League Title—Swims to State

Finishing the dual meet season undefeated and first in the league, the MVHS Bullfish completely outclassed most of their opponents. Although the 1951 team was the state champion, this year's version has been called the "best ever."

Coached by Perry Brown, who was assisted by Dan Cleave, the hard-working Bullfish were highly expectant of a good showing at the state meet.

Except for a late season tie with a strong Bellevue team in a triangular meet, the Bullfish were not challenged during the season. The state meet was the first real test for the swim team and they represented MVHS well.

Co-Captains for this year's swim team were Bob Svoboda and Ray Olmsted. Other notables were Chuck LaMay, Tom Willet, Bob Rood, Steve Swedeen, Jim Bergstrom, and Kent Haberly.

Cross Country Team Places High in League Meet

Running most other teams into the ground, the MVHS cross country team defeated all of their dual and triple meet opponents save for Burlington and Oak Harbor, with whom they split. The meet record for the season was 4 wins and 7 losses.

In post-season competition, the cross country men placed fourth in what is known as the Northwest League meet. Our lead runner in this meet was Jim Mowrer, who placed third. Others making a good post-season showing were Craig James, Greg Hughes, Dave Linde, and Mike Jones.

Lead runners for MVHS during the regular season were Mowrer, James, Hughes, Linde, Jones, Dale Johnson, Ron Johnson, Tom Summers, Jim Carroll, and Craig Dewey.

Once more MVHS has turned out a wrestling team to be proud of. Finishing up the season with a 10 win-3 loss record, the Bulldog grapplers placed in the league, then went on to place third in the Sub-District meet and sent four men, Gary Hoffman, Lee Anderson, Dale Johnson, and Dale Hotchkiss, on to District. The state meet also came out well for the Bulldogs, who placed third in the league. Under the able leadership of Head Coach Paul Reiman and his assistant Darrell Pearson, the relatively inexperienced Bulldog team has strived long and hard to show the rest of the league that they were tough enough to meet the challenge that the 66-67 season has brought them. Three of these men finished out the season undefeated. They were Dale Johnson, Lee Anderson, and Art Bergh.

Basketball: Hard Work and Winning Play

Enthusiasm was high as the MVHS freshman basketball team closed out their season undefeated in league play. Led by coach Jim Beasley, the frosh bested their rivals, most by large margins, to capture first place in the freshman division of the Northwest League.

The highlight of the season's wins was that over a much taller Bellingham team. After a first half of confusing their opponents with their offense and making it score for them, the frosh led Bellingham 26-4. In the second half the Red Raider frosh started to come alive. With their offense still racking up the points, the Bullpups "hung on and prayed" and received a well deserved win.

Prospects for next year's varsity look to be Mike Krieger, Jeff Scott, and Morris Johnson.

Once again the MVHS basketball squad launched themselves into the task of preparing for competition in the Northwest League. This entailed much hard work and the curtailing of other activities to give turn-out top priority. While others were enjoying the freedom of Christmas vacation, the roundballers were turning out to keep themselves in shape for the return to regular league play.

Here it might be added that they did a fine job of out-hustling their competitors in the league. Those long hours of turnout, with their various devices meant to get the men in the best shape possible, were definitely successful. Standing in defensive position for eight minutes may not sound like much when you read it, but sometime try performing it and see how long you last. After you have done that, play a little one-on-one, shoot some foul shots, work on your jump shot, then the set shot, scrimmage for ten or fifteen minutes and check your pulse.

All right, back to work. Just a few more things to go through. First, we'll run some lines. Frontward to the foul line, backward to the end line, frontward to the mid-court line, backward to the end line, frontward to the opposite foul line, turn around and run to the mid-court line, turn around again and run backward to the end line, and now all the way to the other end, backward from the mid-court, and that's one. Try five or six of those. Before we go in we had better try running up and down the bleachers in the gym a few times. Oh, and on your way in, touch eighteen or twenty rims.

Try this for the first eight or ten turn-outs for two and a half hours a day, add some expert coaching, and you'll have a first-rate basketball team, just like Mount Vernon.

Take Fourth in District Tournament Bulldogs Rank Third in League;

After a tough Northwest League race, that saw the Bulldogs and four other teams tied for first place at one time, the MVHS basketball team finished the 1966-67 season with a tie for third place with Burlington, Finishing with a 14-win 8-loss record for the season, the Bulldogs saw moments of glory. For a while, they led the league and then the right combination of wins and losses in the league play knocked them out of the top spot. This got the team in a good position for the District Tournament, where the Bulldogs took fourth place.

Under the able leadership of Head Coach Dave Quall and his assistants Charles Roberts and J.V. Coach Mic Vivian, this year's squad fought a long, hard battle to get where they did. With only two or three men substantially over six feet, the team showed surprising rebounding strength. This, combined with extra-sharp shooting by guards Tom Dunlap, John Olson and Ron Berg, put the team in good shape. Add to this Don Randles, George Dewey, and Willy Weyers, the three big men who kept the defense honest under the basket, and you have an A-1 basketball team. Also adding quick moves and strong rebounding to the fray, were junior back-up men Reas Pierce and Jeff Rindal.

Track and Field Men Run Away With Honors in Spring Meets

A new coach and a new spirit led the Mount Vernon track squad to victory in 1967. The team, coached by Darrell Pearson, former state champion javelin thrower, bounced back after losing many seniors from last year's outstanding squad that won both the sub-district and county meets.

Led by hard-working junior and senior lettermen the 1967 team continued its outstanding reputation in both track and field events. Each athlete will long remember the thrill of competition, the taste of victory, and the agony of defeat.

There is a great amount of satisfaction to be obtained from these sports. The satisfaction that the individual feels comes not only from great victories, but also from hard work at turnout and the knowledge that he has done his best. This satisfaction and pride lives on for many years, and it is what makes any sport truly worthwhile.

"Safe!" is the Call as Bulldog Nine Score Again

Against a tough Northwest League the Bulldog nine broke even in the spring of 1966 with a record of eight wins and eight losses. This record got our team into the upper division of the final league standings with a fourth place finish.

This year proved to be another successful one, as most of the players were back for another season. The great Bulldog spirit of team cooperation again played an important role in continuing the reputation of the team.

Under the able leadership of Head Coach Al Evans and Assistant Coach Bob LeBeau, our team showed that they were no pushovers, losing most of the time only by close margins. They also showed that great Bulldog spirit that enabled them to bounce back after some disheartening losses that would have destroyed the morale of a lesser team. But the fact that they were a team was what held them together. They took to the field, played hard, and shared the fruits of victory and the despair of defeat as a team.

STOPPING ON THIRD to view the action at home plate is three-year letterman Jim Wotherspoon, top of page, while first baseman Don Randles, above, watches the other side of the infield.

"Hole in One" is Aim of MVHS Golfers

Armed with the coaching of Mr. Joe Day, the Bulldog golf team led the Northwest League in the spring of 1966 with a 9 win-1 loss record and went on to win the district title.

This year only two lettermen returned, so the team could not hope for comparable victories. Perhaps the reason for such a small turn-out is that many people do not consider golf to be one of the more manly sports. Golf, however, is a sport that requires well-developed coordination and enough muscle to get the ball out on the green. It takes hard work, hours of practice, and unlimited patience to obtain the confidence required for this game, in which consistency is a prime factor.

Powerful Strokes Shown by Bulldog Racketeers

Following a disappointing year in 1966, this year's tennis team had great hopes for a winning season. With much enthusiasm, the boys worked hard, and succeeded in making the season both worthwhile and memorable.

Returning lettermen included seniors George Dewey, John Mitzel, John Olson, Jack Miner, and junior Terry Brazas.

Again, as in other years, the team had to turn out at Hillcrest Park and Skagit Valley College because of the lack of courts at the school. On rainy days the team members took refuge in the gym, but did not escape a rigorous turn-out. They did many exercises not ordinarily associated with the sport, such as running up and down the stairs, climbing ropes, and running the wrestler's course.

The world is in motion,
In action, revolving,
Made of people,
Myriad pebbles,
Shifting in a vibrant mainstream of life.
Where are they going?
To all walks of life,
And many paths over the world,
To find themselves.
